

Decorative graphic consisting of a large blue circle and a smaller orange circle overlapping it.

See if Tori fits your company needs 🤔

You have staff, employees, or contractors you want to track

You want to see how many people work in your company

You want to define position duties or responsibilities

You want to see and share within your company who takes what positions

You want to share staff profiles within your company to help them better connect and collaborate

You want to publish policies and define rules and be sure they were read and accepted

You are a small company, but you want to grow and hire more people

You want to keep all the candidates you ever interviewed and have all the details in your system, in-house

A large, solid orange circle on the right side of the page.

You want to publish your corporate news on your corporate portal to build your company culture and unite your teams

You need a system that reminds you about your staff anniversaries, birthdays, and trial periods completions automatically and in-time

You want to see the geolocation of your staff to visualize how distributed your team is

You want to help your staff to know what the work schedule of each teammate is

You want to define functions for your business and assign them to your positions to build your business

Your teams are international, and you want to see how different holidays impact the working schedule

Have more than three matches?
Time to try Tori! SIGN UP FOR FREE